Baylor University, Waco, Texas

Laurence R. Iannaccone (George Mason University)

For twenty-five years, the Association of Christian Economists has encouraged Christian scholars to explore and communicate the relationship between their faith and the discipline of economics and to promote interaction and communication among Christian economists. This anniversary conference will celebrate and continue that tradition.

Three different ways in which faith and economics may inform each other will serve as organizing themes for plenary presentation, concurrent sessions and panel discussions:

- 1. Faithful Economics: Religious/ethical topics and presuppositions incorporated into mainstream economic analysis and research.
- 2. Economics of Religion: Application of mainstream techniques of economics to the study of religion and the impact of religion on social capital.
- 3. Heterodoxy: Critique of and alternatives to mainstream economics.

We invite contributed papers for concurrent sessions; in addition to individual papers, full session proposals are encouraged. Submissions from ACE economists, non-member economists, and scholars from related disciplines are welcome. Papers on teaching economics also are within the scope of the conference.

Paper proposals must be submitted by October 15, 2008. Submissions should include:

- An abstract of 300-700 words.
- The conference theme (one of the three) to which the paper most clearly relates.
- The mail address and e-mail address of the author(s).
- A short biography of each author (100 to 150 words).
- A short summary of the paper of (100 to 150 words).

Send proposals by e-mail to john_pisciotta@baylor.edu or by mail to: ACE Anniversary Conference; Department of Economics; One Bear Place #98003; Waco, TX 76798-8003.
